GENERAL OVERVIEW

Certain taxpayers who file taxes with the Taxation and Revenue Department are required to file their returns electronically. E-filing is fast, easy and secure. The Department recognizes that some taxpayers may be reluctant to make the transition to e-filing and offers assistance and resources through various support contacts to facilitate the transition. This publication discusses the e-file requirements for all tax programs that have e-file mandates and describes how you may get help from the Department.

E-filings and payments are processed more quickly, help to minimize manual errors by both taxpayers and the Department, and allow for quicker resolution when problems do arise.

Not all filers may be required to e-file their returns. Each tax program that mandates e-filing has its own requirements and some taxpayers may not be required to e-file. Review the requirements for each tax program that applies to your business to determine if the e-filing requirement applies.

Even if you are not required to e-file your return, you are encouraged to do so by visiting our website. You may also take advantage of the e-file help the Department has to offer.

This publication provides an overview of the e-file requirements for certain frequently filed business taxes. The requirements for other tax programs may be found on the Department's website. The mandates are available in E-File and E-Pay mandates folder on the Forms & Publications page of the Department's website found here: <https://www.tax.newmexico.gov/forms-publications/>.

E-FILE REQUIREMENTS FOR FREQUENTLY FILED BUSINESS TAXES

The following tax programs all have the same e-file requirement: gross receipts tax, governmental gross receipts tax, compensating tax, wage withholding tax, and non-wage withholding tax. Tax returns for these tax programs shall be e-filed, and payment remitted electronically, if the taxpayer's average monthly tax liability for each tax during the preceding calendar year equaled or exceeded one thousand dollars ($1,000). Taxpayers may determine if they meet this requirement by totaling their tax liability in the previous calendar for that tax program and dividing by twelve. This determination is made always based the previous calendar year and is made again at the start of a new calendar year. Once the requirement to e-file the return for that tax program is met, the taxpayer must continue to e-file unless a waiver or an exception described later in this publication is obtained. Returns are required to be e-filed on or before the 25th day of the month following the month in which the taxable event occurs. If the date falls on a weekend, a legal, state or national holiday, the return and payment due date will be extended to the next business day.

If you are required to e-file for one of these tax programs, you may choose your method of electronic payment:

- You may pay electronically at the time of filing your return, or schedule payment for a later date, using the Department's electronic filing system Taxpayer Access Point (TAP) located here: https://tap.state.nm.us/Tap/ /.
- If you prefer to pay by Automated Clearing House (ACH) or Fedwire, you must indicate your preference in the TAP system when filing your return. Then go to your fiscal agent to make your payment. See FYI-401, Special Payment Methods available on our web site or at our local district tax offices, for details.

HOW TO REQUEST AN E-FILE EXCEPTION (For a Calendar Year)

A taxpayer may request an exception of the e-file requirement, by filing Form RPD-41350, E-file and E-Pay Exception Request Form. The request form must be received by the Department at least 30 days before the taxpayer's electronic return is originally due and is valid for one calendar year.

An exception may be granted for the following reasons:

- 1) if the taxpayer shows a hardship including but not limited to no reasonable access to internet in the taxpayer's community;
- 2) if the taxpayer does not have reasonable access to a computer or technology required to electronically file;
- 3) if the taxpayer does not have the knowledge or expertise to file a return electronically; or
- 4) if the taxpayer is unable to utilize technology or the internet for religious reasons. On the request form, the taxpayer should provide a clear statement of the hardship that exists, the reason that the taxpayer feels there is no reasonable Internet access in their community, and the good faith efforts taken to comply.

The request form must be signed by the taxpayer. If approved, the Department will notify the taxpayer. If a taxpayer is granted an exception, the taxpayer may file paper returns by the due date of the return (or extension due date if an extension has been obtained) without civil penalty. Penalty and interest will continue to accrue past the original due date of the return, even if an exception (or extension) is granted.

HOW TO REQUEST AN E-FILE WAIVER (For a Single Return)

A taxpayer may request a waiver of the e-file requirement for a single return by filing Form RPD-41351, E-file and E-Pay Waiver Request Form. The request form must be received by the Department on or before the due date of the return. The request for a waiver must include the tax program and the report period to which the waiver, if granted, will apply. A clear statement of the reasons for the waiver and the signature of the taxpayer are required. If denied, the Department will notify you in writing.

A waiver of the e-file requirement may be requested for a single return for the following reasons:

- 1) if the taxpayer is temporarily disabled because of injury or prolonged illness and the taxpayer can show that the taxpayer is unable to procure the services of a person to complete and file the taxpayer's return electronically or make the necessary payment electronically.
- (2) if the conduct of the taxpayer's business has been substantially impaired due to the disability of a principal officer of the taxpayer, physical damage to the taxpayer's business or other similar impairments to the conduct of the taxpayer's business causing the taxpayer an inability to electronically file or pay;
- (3) if the taxpayer's accountant, agent, or employee who routinely electronically files for taxpayer has suddenly died, has become disabled, or sick and is unable to perform services for the taxpayer and the taxpayer can show that the taxpayer is unable either to electronically file the return, electronically pay the tax due or to procure the services of a person to electronically file the return or make the electronic payment before the due date; or
- (4) if the taxpayer's accountant, agent, or employee who routinely electronically files for taxpayer is no longer employed with the taxpayer and the taxpayer has been unable to gain access to their method of electronically filing and making payment of tax due in time to file electronically before the due date.

Note: Computer system failure or a break in Internet coverage is not an acceptable reason for failure to comply with the e-file requirement.

If a taxpayer is granted a waiver, the taxpayer may file a paper return by the due date of the return (or extension due date if an extension has been obtained) without civil penalty. Penalty and interest will continue to accrue past the original due date of the return, even if an exception (or extension) is granted.

Complete Form RPD-41096, Application for Extension of Time to File, to request an extension of time to file your return.

ABOUT INTEREST

For purposes of the requirement to e-file your return, interest is computed in the same manner as before. Interest accrues on tax that is not paid on or before the due date of your return even if you receive an extension of time to file. Interest is a charge for the use of money and by law cannot be waived. Interest is calculated on a daily basis at the rate established for individual income tax purposes by the U.S. Internal Revenue Code (IRC).

The IRC rate is subject to change quarterly and is announced by the Internal Revenue Service in the last month of the previous quarter. For historic and current quarterly and daily rates visit our web site at <https://www.tax.newmexico.gov/forms-publications/>.
